Faculty Coordinator:- Mr. Anmol Sharma

Student Coordinator: - Riya Verma, Varun Tyagi

Ms. Garima Singh (Assistant Professor) of R.D. Engineering College, Duhai the Resource Person for the session said Women empowerment refers to the creation of an environment for women where they can make their own decisions of their well being as well as for society. With regard to the current scenario, the question is that "are women become really strong? Many programs have been implemented and run by the government such as International women's day, Mother's day and so on in order to bring awareness in the society about the true rights and value of the women in the development of the nation. There is a high level of gender inequality where women are ill-treated by the family members as well as by the society, the real meaning of the women empowerment is to make them educated and leave them free so they can make their own decisions for their well being. In modern India women have held high offices such as President, Speaker of Lok Sabha etc women in India now also have participated in many activities like games, education, politics, media and so on. India needs to take some advance steps to improve the women positions through proper education and economic participation.

Outcomes of Consumer Law Awareness Program

A Consumer Law Awareness Program organised by R.D Engineering college on 15 March 2019 can have various positive outcomes, empowering individuals with knowledge about their rights and promoting fair business practices. Here are potential outcomes of such a program:

1. Informed Consumers: Participants gain a better understanding of their rights and responsibilities as consumers, enabling them to make informed decisions when purchasing goods and services.

2. Prevention of Fraud: Increased awareness about consumer protection laws helps individuals recognize and avoid fraudulent practices, reducing the likelihood of falling victim to scams and deceptive business practices.

3. Effective Complaint Resolution: Empowered consumers are more likely to file complaints and seek resolution when faced with unfair or deceptive business practices, contributing to a more effective consumer protection system.

4. Business Compliance: Businesses become more aware of and compliant with consumer protection laws to avoid legal consequences and maintain a positive reputation among consumers.

5. Access to Redress: Participants are educated on the mechanisms available for seeking redress, such as filing complaints with consumer protection agencies or pursuing legal action, fostering a sense of empowerment.

6. Quality Improvement: Increased consumer awareness encourages businesses to improve the quality of their products and services to meet consumer expectations and comply with consumer protection standards.

7. Fair Market Competition: Consumer law awareness promotes fair competition among businesses, as they are compelled to compete based on the quality and value of their offerings rather than engaging in deceptive practices.

8. Financial Literacy: Participants may gain insights into financial matters related to consumer transactions, helping them manage their finances more effectively and avoid predatory financial practices.

Sanjay Paliwal (Deputy Director) in R.D. Engineering College, Duhai the Resource Person of the session Education is part of the foundation of all progress and growth both as an individual and as a society.it is dependent on multiple factors- the availability of stationery items is one of them. Stationary is the first thing along with books comes in our mind when we think or talk about education. It is the basic requirement for learning. Pencils, erasers, sharpeners, tools of geometry, notebooks are some basic stationery items without these items student won't be able to write and it will restrict their creativity and thought process. i.e., When a child starts learning alphabets, teachers help them to write it, in this activity children are not only recognizing the shape of the alphabets, but it also helps develop the child's fine motor skills to control their hand movement by using different pressure on pencil to write. It is an inseparable and essential part of a student's life. These are useful for students in school as well as home. But not many students are blessed enough to have these basic and essential things in their life because of their poor economic condition. We in Paragraph are trying our best to reach out to many such kids in every possible way.

Mr. Abhishek Shukla Assistant Prof of R.D. Engineering College, Duhai the Resource Person for the session said voting rights to be accepted as a basic need of human life. He said, only the voters who elect their representatives have the right to question anything that goes wrong. All the voters are considered wise citizens of the country and hence all the youth and citizens of the country need to enroll their names in the electoral list. From his experience, he opined that rural voters outnumber urban voters. He urged that every employee in every organization should have the accountability and responsibility to vote despite their busy schedules. The session highlighted the rights of a prisoner who has the right to be a contestant for election and the right to vote. He clarified students' doubts about various aspects of being a good citizen of this country by actively interacting with them. The outcomes of a voting rights awareness program in the village organised by R. D. Engineering College on 25 January 2019, can have a significant impact on both individuals and the community. Here are some potential outcomes:-

1. Increased Voter Registration: The program may lead to a higher number of individuals registering to vote, ensuring a more inclusive and representative democratic process.

2. Informed Electorate: Participants gain a better understanding of the electoral process, including how to research candidates and issues, enabling them to make informed decisions at the polls.

3. Reduced Voter Suppression: Awareness programs can highlight and address issues related to voter suppression, empowering individuals to recognize and report any attempts to disenfranchise voters.

4. Diverse Voter Participation: The program encourages individuals from all demographic groups to participate in the electoral process, promoting a more diverse and representative voter turnout.

5. Community Engagement: Voting rights awareness fosters a sense of civic responsibility, encouraging community members to actively engage in discussions about local and national issues.

6. Advocacy for Electoral Reforms: Participants may become advocates for positive changes in the electoral system, pushing for reforms that enhance accessibility, fairness, and transparency.

7. Youth Involvement: Increased awareness among younger demographics can lead to higher youth voter turnout, shaping the political landscape for the future.

8. Election Monitoring: Empowered citizens may take an active role in monitoring elections, ensuring fairness and reporting any irregularities to the relevant authorities.

9. Strengthened Democracy: A well-informed and engaged electorate contributes to a stronger democracy, as it reflects the collective will of the people and holds elected officials accountable.
